Reseachers

Sitting in front of the television may be a relaxing way to pass an evening, but spending too much time in front of the tube may take years off your life. That's what Australian researchers found when they generated life-expectancy tables for people based on mortality information from the Australian Bureau of Statistics as well as participants' survey responses about how much TV they had watched in the past week.

The TV-viewing data from more than 11,000 participants older than 25 years showed that Australian adults watched an estimated 9.8 billion hours of television in 2008. People who watched an average six hours of TV a day lived an average 4.8 years fewer than those who didn't watch any television, the study found.

Hmmmm...the study compared six hours vs. zero hours. Seems to reason "everything in moderation" is the key. Enjoy your favorite shows!

Maintenance

When Paul is trimming, trees, operating the bobcat, mowing, and plowing around Pinewood ...please drive with caution. If he appears to have an entrance blocked or semi-blocked...please used one of the other 4 exits in Pinewood. Your safety and his safety is very important.
